

"Clicquot" makes the warm days Bearable

There is nothing like "Clicquot Club" to help you over the warm days. It refreshes. It cools. It satisfies. And it offers the mild stimulating quality and light food value so grateful on a hot summer day.

TWO LARGE GLASSES IN EVERY BOTTLE

Clicquot Club GINGER ALE

(Pronounced Klee'k' Club)

A touch of ginger—as any doctor will tell you—is an excellent thing in the summer; and the ginger used in "Clicquot Club" is the best and purest ginger that Jamaica produces. This, with the fruit oils and fine quality confectioners' sugar used in "Clicquot," is just what the stomach craves. It is positively non-astringent.

DRINK "CLICQUOT CLUB" AND YOU'LL FORGET THE WARM DAYS

Other Clicquot products with the Clicquot purity and flavor: CLICQUOT CLUB Sarsaparilla. CLICQUOT CLUB LEMON SODA. CLICQUOT CLUB ROOT BEER. CLICQUOT CLUB BLOOD ORANGE. CLICQUOT CLUB BIRCH BEER.

Sold by the best grocers, generally. Not to have Clicquot is a confession no good grocer likes to make.

MORMONS OWN 49,815 SHARES

Latter Day Saints Hold This Amount of Beet Sugar Stock

JOSEPH SMITH IS TRUSTEE

Latter on Way to Washington to Talk On Sugar—No Subsidy Necessary for the Mormon Chief.

Washington, June 23.—Inquiry into the relationship between the Mormon church and the American Sugar Refining company before the House committee of inquiry into the sugar trust, disclosed yesterday that Henry O. Havemeyer's first dealings in the beet sugar business was with the Utah Sugar company in which the Church of Jesus Christ and the Latter Day Saints was interested.

Thomas R. Cutler, vice president and general manager of the Utah-Idaho Sugar Refining company and former bishop of the Mormon church, testified that of the approximately $8,500,000 paid up stock of the Utah-Idaho company, the American Sugar Refining company controls $5,400,000 or 400,000 shares; Joseph F. Smith, president of the Mormon church, as trustee for the church 49,815 shares; the estate of Henry O. Havemeyer 23,174 shares and that the balance is owned by 1,493 individual stockholders.

Mr. Cutler related the early history of the beet sugar industry in Utah dating back to the time of the organization of the Utah Sugar company in 1889 and the Idaho company in 1903. The Mormon church became first interested by endorsing notes of the original company and purchasing bonds and later was induced to buy stock, he said.

Havemeyer first entered into the affairs of the company in 1902 when at Havemeyer's request Cutler went to New York to see him. According to Cutler Havemeyer said:

"We have decided to go into the beet sugar business. We think it is bound to become one of the great industries of this country. We have sent for you to see if you couldn't help us in establishing beet sugar plants in any good locations."

"I told Mr. Havemeyer that I was not in a position to accept such a proposition and said that what I wanted was financial help in our own enterprises. Then he made a proposition to me to supply one half of all the capital we would need in extending our business in good locations if we would agree to furnish the other half and he proposed to start the deal, that our stockholders sell the American company one half of our company."

Mr. Cutler explained that this proposition was taken up with the stock-

PALE AS A GHOST

This Young Woman Was Thought to Be Dying of Anemia.

After Two Years in Bed She Was Cured By Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and Has Since Been Well.

Anemia is simply a lack of blood. It therefore follows that the correct treatment for anemia is one that increases the blood supply. That is really the only treatment that can possibly be successful. To restore the blood supply to its normal quantity and quality, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be recommended with confidence. First, because they are known to have cured thousands of anemic people—the highest possible recommendation. Secondly, they actually contain the ingredients that combine with the food and oxygen to make rich, red blood, without which no man, woman or growing boy or girl can be healthy.

Miss Carrie E. Hathaway, of North Houghton street, North Adams, Mass., was cured of anemia by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills after recovery was pronounced hopeless by her doctor. The statement of her cure is told by her mother, Mrs. A. A. Hathaway.

"My daughter, Carrie, was confined to bed for two years suffering from anemia. She seemed to have no blood and was as pale as a ghost. She was thin and did not weigh more than 100 pounds, had no strength or ambition and couldn't sit up. Her appetite was poor and she had difficulty in breathing. No one expected her to get well and our minister, before going on his vacation, came to bid her good-bye as he did not think she would live until his return."

"We spent hundreds of dollars but the doctor seemed to be puzzled and could not help her. She had been sick for over two years before I decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. The pills gave her quick relief and cured her after a fair trial. She has had no serious sickness since and weighs 170 pounds. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a wonderful remedy and I cannot say enough in praise of them."

A new edition of our booklet, "Diagnosis of the Blood," will be sent free on request to any one interested. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50c per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Pills sold in any other package or loose, by the dozen or hundred are not the same, whatever the clerk says.

holders and later the deal was closed was then taken by the committee. Chairman Hardwick has received a telegram from Joseph F. Smith, head of the Mormon church, and a director in the Utah-Idaho Beet Sugar company, saying he had left Salt Lake City for Washington and that a subpoena would not be necessary to bring him before the committee.

AKED TARGET OF BAPTISTS' CRITICISMS

Speaker Before World Alliance Blames Him and Dr. Jowett for Desertion.

Philadelphia, June 23.—At the world Baptist alliance Tuesday night in Grace temple, Rev. Dr. John Henry Jowett, of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, New York, and Rev. Dr. Charles F. Aked, of the First Congregational church, San Francisco, Cal., were criticised for leaving their denominations.

In a talk on "City Evangelization," Rev. Dr. J. E. Roberts of Manchester, Eng., said: "The gulf is not so great between some of our denominations but that a Jowett can slip from the Congregational into the Presbyterian church, and an Aked can slip from the Baptist into the Congregational church."

The remark was greeted by hand clapping and cries of "aye, aye." "The churches have no attraction for two-thirds of the people of our great cities," said Dr. Roberts. "We open our church doors and they do not enter. What we need is a real brainy attempt to diagnose the real religious needs of the city."

Dr. Roberts blamed much of the city's so-called irreligion to denominationalism and snobbishness in the churches. King George on the eve of his coronation was praised by the 3,925 delegates to the Baptist alliance for his stand against divorce.

The alliance adopted a resolution thanking President Taft for America's hospitality, and this resolution was adopted as congratulatory to Mr. Taft on his efforts in the interest of universal arbitration.

CUSTOMS GUARD.

Fines a Better Check on Fraud Than Prosecution.

Washington, June 23.—According to Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh, who was a witness yesterday before the House committee on expenditures in the treasury department, heavy fines will do more than criminal prosecutions to wipe out the customs frauds due to undervaluation by which the government of recent years has lost large sums in uncollected duties.

Mr. MacVeagh said that information concerning such frauds was obtained more readily when punishment by fine only was threatened, whereas fear of criminal prosecution would cause fraudulent importers, who might have aided the government, to cover up all they knew.

"There is a growing conviction," said Mr. MacVeagh, "that the government means business and does not intend to stop until it has thoroughly cleaned out the Augean stables of fraud in the customs service. This situation could not have been created, as it has, within a few years, if we had rested simply on criminal prosecutions."

INQUIRY GETS UNDER WAY

First Witness Heard in Lorimer Case

A CHICAGO NEWSPAPER MAN

Who Talks About "Jack Pots"—His Belief Was That There Was a General Corruption Fund—Ex-Governor Yates Also Testifies.

Washington, June 23.—George W. Hinman, editor and publisher of the Chicago Inter Ocean took the stand yesterday before the Senate committee which is investigating the charges of alleged corruption in the election of Senator Lorimer to the United States Senate. Mr. Hinman said he had heard of the existence of a "jackpot" fund to control legislation at Springfield, but denied having knowledge of it.

"It has been a matter of open belief," said Mr. Hinman, "that a 'jackpot' has existed for many years, but I have never participated in one and do not have any accurate knowledge of one. My knowledge about the existence and operation of the 'jackpot' was based on common belief in its existence, but I could not give a scintilla of evidence of the subject. I believe a 'jackpot' has existed at Springfield during every meeting of the Illinois legislature in the last twelve years. I do not know who formed it, how it was formed or how it was established. The 'jackpot' fund, however, was not used to elect Senator Lorimer."

In reply to an inquiry from Mr. Marble Mr. Hinman said that he believed that the money for the jackpot came from the "liquor" or "anti local option" interests. He was questioned about editorial references in his paper to the jackpot fund. One of these editorial references said that if the investigation into the operations of this fund was thorough some "prominent persons" might have to go abroad.

Mr. Hinman said that this editorial did not refer to any particular persons whom he could name. "The moneyed interests of Chicago," Mr. Hinman said, "have taken the side against Senator Lorimer."

Throughout the hearing Senator Lorimer occupied a seat near the witness chair and followed the proceedings of the committee with unconcealed interest.

Former Governor Yates of Illinois, who not only accused Governor Deneen of playing him falsely in politics but sent word to him through Senator Lorimer that he was a "liar still" denied that he ever heard of the use of money in that election until more than a year afterward.

Mr. Yates emphatically denied that he ever had any conversation with Edward Hines of Chicago over the long distance telephone on the day Senator Lorimer was elected, in regard to a corruption fund for Mr. Lorimer's election or any other subject.

INDEPENDENT MEN AND WOMEN WANTED

Those Who Think, Says President Schurman Addressing Graduating Class of Cornell University Yesterday.

Ithaca, N. Y., June 23.—The independent thinker makes human progress was the theme of President Jacob Gould Schurman's address to the graduates of Cornell university at the commencement here yesterday. President Schurman said the demand of the age was for men and women of independence. He said:

"We think our civilization near its meridian," says Emerson, "but we are yet only at the cock-crowing and the morning star." No man thinks his own thought; no man stands upon his own feet; no man walks alone. We go in flocks; we lean on others; we follow the multitude blindly; we bend our neck of the yoke of public opinion. We have no self-reliance; the only virtue we have is conformity. The demand of the age is for men and women of character who are self-poised, self-reliant, independent, and self-assertive. Society follows custom and routine. The redemption of the race is in the originality of individuals."

"It is educated men of independence of thought to whom the world is indebted for its advancement. They originate new ideas and stick to them till they prevail. In every sphere of human life and activity there is today a call to educated men for this service. In the church orthodoxy means adaptation of creed to current views; a heretic is needed to catch glimpses of some new truth which shall ultimately lift the church to higher life and nobler service. There is the same opportunity and call in the field of law and medicine. The healing and prevention of disease have, indeed, made great progress in the last generation; but if pain and suffering are to be banished from human life, as they should be, it can only be brought about by new discoveries in pure or applied science which will be denounced as heretical or even dangerous by the orthodox schools of physicians."

"All that our race has hitherto accomplished or undertaken is but the promise and prelude of the achievements and tasks which remain for you. Nor is the summons to higher service or the opportunity for it given to men alone. On the contrary when I recall the honors won by women in this university (in which they form so small a proportion of the student body) or when I reflect upon contemporary names like Mrs. Humphrey Ward and Madam Curie, I cannot resist the conviction that in the future women in increasing numbers will make important contributions to the intellectual advancement of mankind.

"The position of women in any community is one of the tests of civilization. That criterion, I do not hesitate to say, is satisfied by the American people better than by any other nation on the face of the globe. But this is not the only measure of a nation's progress. There is another requirement not less imperative or binding and not less vital or fundamental. The second test of the civilization which any society has attained is the condition of its laboring men and women. Can these earn a decent livelihood? And have they the leisure requisite for recreation, amusement, and intellectual improvement? Every child that is born must have a just chance for his bread. Every worker is entitled to rest, health, and entertainment."

Poverty will not be abolished, nor mankind advanced in civilization, by the action of governments. All great reforms are the work of individuals. Any reformation that is worth anything must be enacted in the hearts and minds of individuals. If you ask by what cause or agencies the lot of man on this planet has been improved, and human civilization created and advanced, you will find they are powers exerted by individuals. "Would you abolish poverty? Would you advance civilization? Then educate individuals, one by one, to be more virtuous, more intelligent, more industrious and skillful."

"Nor let us forget that leaders are indispensable—moral leaders, scientific leaders, and industrial leaders. How much expert leaders may do for industry we are just beginning to see in the wonderful demonstrations recently furnished by scientific management. And as to science, though it has been long in the world, only a few people realize how much it has added to the comfort and happiness of the toiling multitudes. And if we knew how to use the infinite powers of nature to the fullest advantage, as science has already taught to use them in small measure, human beings would be able to satisfy all their wants with only such medium of labor as proper hygiene would warrant and have at the same time that leisure which laboring men and women now justly demand for recreation, amusement, and intellectual and aesthetic improvement and development. In this age of the world the scientist is the greatest reformer."

POWERS PLEADS FOR A NEGRESS

Congressman Long Under Death Sentence Asks Respite for Mattie Lomax.

Washington, June 23.—Representative Caleb Powers of Kentucky Tuesday night made a plea for Mattie Lomax, a negress, under sentence to be hanged for the murder of her husband. The Kentuckian spoke at a mass meeting of negroes held in furtherance of a movement to secure commutation of the woman's sentence.

Mr. Powers referred to his own case in Kentucky. "I know what this suspense to Mattie Lomax means," he said, "for I have been in a similar state when they were trying to commit judicial murder on me in Kentucky. I feel for her, for the facing of death is part of her daily life, as it was mine. I faced death every day and every minute of the day. I arose with it, spend the day with it, and went to bed with it."
